To a Baby Born July 4

175th Anniversary of Our Independence

What kind of a world have they shoved you into? What kind of a country are you going to grow up in? What kind of a life can you look forward to, as you kick your first kicks and squall your first squalls on the glorious Fourth of '51?

You see, baby, a lot of big question marks are floating around these days. And your birthday, being the same as your country's, seems a good time to bring some of them up.

175 years before you were born, a bunch of men got together and risked their necks to sign a thing called the Declaration of Independence.

It guaranteed that everyone in this country had the right to "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness"—but it took a lot of war, work and worry before the rest of the world believed us.

We hope, when school days come, you'll read this Declaration through—it isn't long—even though you don't quite understand all the big words.

The point to remember, baby, is that all over the world today the great freedoms our Declaration of Independence stands for are being attacked.

Through the complacency or don't-care-ness of our own people, those attacks could be successful.

You're little now and the things we're talking about aren't nearly so important to you as a question like "When do I eat?"

Yet you're going to grow and grow and grow into your United States. And when you get big enough, you'll vote and work and have a home of your own.

Then is when you'll want to vote free as the birds that sing outside your window now; you'll want to work wherever you wish; you'll want a home that keeps rain out and Freedom in; you'll want to go to whatever church you choose.

Now, it's up to your dad and mother, and the fathers and mothers of other babies like you, to do the things that keep your Freedom.

Things they can do right in their own home town. Things like voting every time for good leaders. Things like working together in their own neighborhoods to make life better for all.

Other fathers and mothers have done those things since way back in 1776. That's why they've always turned over a free land to their children, no matter what troubles came.

Baby, we'll turn over a land to you where you can grow up to live and vote, and work and talk, the way you please! So help us, we will! God helping us, we must!

Now—Freedom needs YOU!!

U.S. Celebrating 175th Birthday Of Declaration

PHILADELPHIA, July 3—The City of Brotherly Love is throwing the most gigantic party in its history—in honor of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence here.

The President of the United States, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the governors of the original 13 states and hundreds of other important officials will be on hand tomorrow to mark their respect to the document that best states our hopes and aspirations as a nation.

By executive order, President Truman has established a commission composed of the highest officials of our nation to commemorate the occasion.

Independence Hall, familiarly known to all Philadelphians as the "State House" will be the focal point of the festivities. It was here, on July 4, 1776, that our Continental Congress gave birth to the idea that all men are created equal and are endowed with the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Stick Umbrella In July 4th Picnic Basket

Pickaway countians planning to pile their children and lunch baskets into the family car for a Fourth of July picnic had better take along an umbrella or two on the trip.

"We'll have showery weather tomorrow along with considerable cloudiness," the weather forecaster said Tuesday.

The showers will be spotty and there will be scattered thunder-showers throughout the day, he declared.

"Today was unmy in the morning with some increasing cloudiness coming in the latter part of the day," he said. "Showers are developing along the western edge of the state."

Temperatures Tuesday will range from highs of 80-85 down to lows of 62-68.

Following is the weather bureau's five-day forecast:

"Showers and scattered thunder-showers Thursday and again over the weekend, totaling 3/4 to 1 1/2 inches. Temperatures average near normal with no major change indicated."

hope that it will inspire a nationwide rededication to the principles upon which the Declaration of Independence was founded.

CELEBRATED AS the most significant political document ever produced in America, the Declaration of Independence has been an inspiration for liberty loving people the world over for almost two centuries. Looking backward into time, it is hard to believe that its adoption was bitterly opposed.

It took real courage to believe in the principles of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. Had America lost the Revolutionary war, its signers could have been hanged as traitors to England.

Author of the immortal and stirring Declaration was an obscure, young, 33-year-old congressman with fiery red hair and a fiery devotion to liberty.

Considered "a dangerous young radical" by many of the more conservative statesmen, the red-haired congressman later made quite a reputation for himself as President of the United States. His name was Thomas Jefferson.

The first step toward making the Declaration a reality came in Congress on June 7, 1776, when Richard Henry Lee of Virginia made a motion that such a document be drafted. His motion was seconded by John Adams of Massachusetts, later the second president of the United States.

A committee of five members was appointed to draft the Declaration. These included Benjamin Franklin of Philadelphia, Roger Sherman of Connecticut, Robert Livingston of New York, Adams and Jefferson.

THE COMMITTEE promptly designated Jefferson to write the Declaration. The young man's writing style was widely admired even if his critics felt he was a little likely to go too far with his incendiary prose.

The Declaration was reported to Congress on June 28, 1776, and on July 1, all states except New York voted to adopt it. An amended version was brought to the floor on July 3 and formally

GOP Blasts Control Bill

Taft Doesn't Trust President Truman

WASHINGTON, July 3 — Republicans served notice on President Truman today that they will stand by their refusal to grant him the broad controls powers he says he must have to combat inflation.

Senate GOP Policy Leader Taft keyed the party stand in a broadcast speech declaring that he does not "trust" the President with super anti-inflation powers and charging that Mr. Truman is responsible for rising prices.

At the same time Sen. Aiken, (R) Vt., a powerful farm voice in Republican circles, asserted that Congress might even decide to let controls die a natural death on July 31 if a Korean armistice develops as expected.

The administration's controls officials are now operating under a stop-gap extension which carries present price-wage-rent control powers through July.

The Senate has passed an eight-month extension containing a ban on price rollbacks and denying most of the extra powers Mr. Truman asked and a companion measure comes up in the House Thursday.

TAFT CONCEDED that price and wage controls are necessary, but blasted the President for asking for broad powers in such fields as the licensing of businesses, subsidies and government defense plant construction.

Aiken expressed the belief that a Korean settlement would wipe out the need for controls by bringing about a general decline in prices. In fact, he said, some legislators may have been thinking of the possibility of a Korean armistice when they voted last week for the simple 31-day extension of existing control powers.

Helicopter Helps Raft Out At Sea

NEW YORK, July 3—Charles Wallace, 17, decided early today to take a nap on a home-made raft—and it took a police helicopter to wake him and tow him back to shore.

He was a half-mile off shore in the ocean when the helicopter came overhead. Charles slept so soundly, the police had to circle twice. Then he wearily grabbed a line from the helicopter and the raft was towed into Cedar Grove Beach.

Ridgway Asks More Speed In Ending Korea Shootings

WHO IS SUING FOR PEACE?

Rok Chief Bitter; Says Truce At 38th Ne Good

PUSAN, July 3 — President Syngman Rhee declared tonight that the South Korean government "cannot accept" any cease-fire agreement that would leave Parallel 38 as an artificial dividing line between South and North Korea.

"We want a cease-fire as soon as possible," said the chief executive of the Republic of Korea, "but the 38th Parallel is something we cannot accept."

It was Rhee's first public comment since the United Nations supreme command accepted the Chinese-North Korean counter-proposal designating the South Korean city of Kaesong in the 38th Parallel area as the site for armistice talks.

The 75-year-old South Korean president issued his bitter statement after conferring with American Ambassador John J. Muccio. He declared:

"We will do anything to stop the fighting, but not at the 38th Parallel. I want to know who is suing for peace—the United States or Russia? Who is winning the war?"

"Our people have died and have been killed. Their homes have been destroyed and their cities ruined. They did not do all this without purpose. The purpose was to punish aggressors and help establish collective security for all free nations."

Muccio's call upon Rhee today and a visit by Gen. Ridgway to the Rok president last week were reported in Pusan to have been made for the purpose of obtaining Rhee's silent acquiescence to the cease-fire moves.

UN Chief Wants Meet On Thursday

Kaesong Approved As Parley Site

YO, July 3—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway accepted today the Communist choice of a truce conference site, but urged a preliminary meeting within 48 hours to hasten the end of the Korean fighting which suddenly re-exploded in one sector.

Approval was given by the United Nations supreme commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, just below Parallel 38, as the scene of armistice talks.

In a message broadcast repeatedly to the enemy commanders, Ridgway agreed to formal armistice meetings at Kaesong, beginning July 10. But he suggested that preliminary talks between lower-echelon officers be held Thursday "or as soon thereafter as practicable" in order to save lives.

Up until 3 a. m. Wednesday (noon Tuesday EST)—12 hours after Ridgway's history-making statement was issued—no reply had as yet come from any Communist radio station.

RIDGWAY'S APPEAL for quick action to cut casualties on both sides did get another kind of Communist reply however—one that came on the battle fields.

In the east-central sector, above the North Korean junction of Inje, Red guns cut loose Tuesday afternoon with more than 250 rounds of 76mm fire, provoking the longest artillery duel of the entire 53-week-old war.

Allied artillery answered with more than 500 rounds of 105mm and 155mm fire in the thunder-

Long Artillery Duel Follows Ridgway's Bid

TOKYO, July 3 — The longest artillery duel of the Korean war blazed on the east-central front today in the wake of General Ridgway's bid to the Communists to hold preliminary cease-fire talks which might end hostilities this week.

The big artillery duel took place on the east-central front north of Inje. It lasted for three hours and one Allied officer said his troops had "never before encountered anything like it in the way of counter-battery fire."

The Reds hurled 250 rounds of 76mm shells at UN positions. Friendly artillery replied with 500 rounds of 105 and 155mm shells in the sustained battle.

The suddenly bitter ground fighting erupted after a brief lull at the front. During the night Communist patrols failed to make their customary thrusts. An Allied patrol plunged more than three miles deep into enemy territory and then withdrew after capturing two Red soldiers.

In the air there was no letup in strikes against enemy supply lines and troop concentrations. Massed B-29s and light B-26 bombers along with jet fighters blasted Red air fields.

Allied warships and carrier-based planes continued to hammer Red targets. Near the east coast port of Wonsan, Allied naval guns silenced Red shore batteries in an hour-long exchange.

3-STEP PLAN EXPECTED

17 UN Allies Book Parley To Assure Lasting Peace

WASHINGTON, July 3—The 17 United Nations allies fighting Red aggression in the Far East met in Washington today to map a program to assure permanent peace in Korea.

This comes in the wake of the announcement by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Far Eastern commander, of Allied-Red agreement on an armistice parley at Kaesong, two miles south of the 38th Parallel.

While accepting the July 10 date set by the Chinese Reds for opening the parley, Ridgway suggested advancing the meeting to July 5. It may be another day before the Western World learns which date the parley will begin.

Congress Warned Against Letup

WASHINGTON, July 3 — Two top administration officials warned Congress today against any letup in the defense program because of cease-fire negotiations in Korea.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson told the Senate Finance Committee that a Korean war truce will have "no effect" on the nation's rearmament program.

Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman simultaneously warned the House Foreign Affairs Committee that any relaxation now in the defense program "can only lead to disaster."

Wilson urged the Senate committee to approve the full $10 billion in new taxes asked by President Truman. On the question of whether a cease-fire in Korea would ease the need for armament and taxes, Wilson declared:

"THE ANSWER is that it will have no effect. Our defense mobilization must be based, not upon the Korean fighting, but upon what we know to be the ultimate aims and present tactics of the Soviet Union."

"Until we know that there is a genuine change in the long term aims of world Communism, we cannot afford to slow the pace of our own defense building and our aid to other countries."

4 Top Commies Still Missing

NEW YORK, July 3 — Four of the cleverest top Communist leaders convicted in 1949 failed to surrender in federal court today as ordered and forfeited bail totaling $80,000.

The missing four, for whom the FBI is instituting a wide search, are:

Henry Winston, the Communist Party's national organization secretary; Robert Thompson, New York state chairman; Gilbert Green, Illinois chairman, and Gus Hall, national secretary and boss of Reds in Ohio.

They are all members of the Communist "Politburo" in America. The seven others of the Communist high command were jailed on schedule yesterday.

powers are scheduled to meet this afternoon in the state department. For the first time, the South Korean government will have a representative at the meeting.

TOPMOST ON THE agenda will be the three initial steps toward peace. This calls for three distinct steps.

First is arranging a cease-fire. This will be left to the UN commander on the field. He can reach an accord with the Red Chinese and North Korean commanders to cease fire all along the front or only in the vicinity of Kaesong, and the north and south corridors to the war-ravaged city.

Second, representatives of the supreme commanders will sign an armistice. This means a total cessation of battles on all fronts but preserving a buffer of a 20-mile buffer zone between the opposing armies.

Such a zone might be drawn where the armies stand or at the 38th Parallel. It includes possibly an exchange of prisoners, head for head.

These two subjects rest within the province of the military commanders.

The third and greatest problem to be solved is the establishment of permanent peace in Korea under a stable government.

This question goes beyond the sphere of military commanders and undoubtedly political personalities will participate in solving it.

Involved is a decision on whether to combine all Korea under a single government or to maintain the former north and south governments.

It includes the question of removing all Allied and UN troops, except those for maintaining order for the new government, and restoring Korea's wrecked and destroyed industries.

Florida Chief Flats Refies Crime Probers

TALLAHASSEE, July 3 — A running feud between Governor Warren and the State Crime Investigating Committee reached a fever pitch today with the Florida chief executive flatly refusing the committee's request to subpoena him.

Warren yesterday said the latest in a series of subpoenas to Chairman O'Connor, D-Fla., challenging an ongoing probe of grounds—the record of authority to order him to appear as a witness next Monday in Tallahassee.

The governor returned the subpoena along with the following clarifying:

"Neither you nor the State committee has the authority to compel me to obey your demands."

Warren previously had turned two invitations to appear before the committee hearing on the matter.

He insists that he has no information about reported Communist contributions to his 1948 campaign.

The next move will be for the Senate group and O'Connor to call a majority of the full committee at its Monday session to said the hearing will decide whether or not Warren is sent.

Increased enemy battle front action led to speculation in Tokyo that the Communists may have decided to attempt an aggressive military showing in order to improve their bargaining position, at the truce conference table.

By contrast, the Communist Chinese and North Korean radios left out of their Tuesday broadcasts their usual propaganda outcries against what they have called the American and UN "imperialists." Anti-Allied slogans were conspicuously absent from the enemy broadcasts.

Accepting the Red counterproposal of Sunday night concerning cease-fire negotiations, Ridgway pointed out that "delay in initiating meetings and in reaching agreement" would "prolong fighting and increase losses."

HIS STATEMENT was issued some 39 hours after the Chinese and North Korean commanders had radioed acceptance of his bid for armistice talks, but proposed they be deferred until some time between July 10 and 15 and be held near Kaesong.

Ridgway's dramatic answer, with its suggestion of a preparatory meeting that might effect an informal cease-fire and thus halt the bloodshed this week, was being broadcast to the enemy leaders in the Korean and Chinese languages.

The American Armed Forces Radio Service began airing the message Tuesday afternoon over 150 long and short wave radio transmitters located in Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines and Korea.

Earlier in the day, the statement was broadcast hourly in the English language from Tokyo.

Allied monitors throughout the Far East immediately began a constant vigil at receiving sets, listening for the first reply from Red radios to Ridgway's call for an early start of cease-fire arrangements.

It was pointed out that the enemy's acceptance of a preliminary meeting this week would not only save time but probably hundreds of lives of fighting men as well.

A few hours before Ridgway's message was issued, Red China's Peiping Radio was heard to declare that an end of the hostilities would be "only the first step to settle the Korean question peacefully."

HOWEVER, the same broadcast said it could be "an important step" if the American and other UN governments with forces in Korea "really have the sincerity to put an end to the Korean war and to insure that the negotiations for an armistice are carried out."

Ridgway's momentous message was addressed to Gen. Kim Il-sung, North Korean premier and military chief, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of what the Reds call the Chinese "volunteer forces" in Korea.

Advising the communist leaders that he had received their broadcast message of Sunday night, the UN supreme commander declared:

"I am prepared for my representatives to meet yours at Kaesong on July 10 or at an earlier date if your representatives complete their preparations before that date."

Pointing out that "agreement on armistice terms has to precede cessation of hostilities" and that delay in beginning the formal talks would cause further needless loss of life, Ridgway added:

"To insure efficient arrangement of many details connected with the first (formal) meeting, I propose that not to exceed three of my senior officers have a preliminary meeting with an equal number of yours in Kaesong July 5 or soon thereafter as practicable."

HE ADVISED KIM and Peng that if they agree to the suggestion of a preparatory session "my liaison officers, the senior of whom will not be above the rank of colonel," will take off from Kimp'o airbase by helicopter at 9 o'clock Thursday morning (6 p. m. Wednesday EST), "proceeding direct to Kaesong."

Ridgway said further that if Thursday proves too early for the Red commanders to arrange the proposed preliminary meeting, the Allied liaison officers will leave Kimp'o at the same hour "on the day agreed upon for this meeting."

In case of bad weather, he added, the UN officers will proceed to Kaesong in three "unarmed" jeeps along the main highway from Seoul, the South Korean capital 34 miles below Kaesong.

The UN commander said each such vehicle "will bear a large white flag" and will cross the

Iran Chief Said Ready To Accept Compromise Plan

TEHRAN, July 3 — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was reported authoritatively today to be ready to accept a compromise solution of the British-Iranian dispute over oil receipts.

These sources said that Mossadegh offered to agree on a compromise provided two conditions are met.

Mossadegh set his conditions after considering a proposal that commanders of British-owned tankers sign receipts for oil which did not prejudice the claims of the British Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

The premier said he would approve this if such a manner of endorsing receipts also did not invalidate the claims of the new National Petroleum Co. of Iran.

The second provision set is that the British and other governments which buy Iranian oil guarantee eventual payments for oil delivered to the tankers.

Oil production has been curtailed by the refusal of commanders of AIOC-owned tankers to sign receipts made out to the national company. The oil flow from wells has rapidly filled storage tanks.

Ridgway promised that the convoy carrying the Red liaison officers to the preparatory session "will be granted immunity from attack by my forces, provided you advise me of its route, schedule and manner by which my forces may identify it."

Headquarters spokesmen said it was not yet known who would be assigned to represent Ridgway at the proposed preparatory meeting.

BEST GUESS WAS that they would be American officers with knowledge of the Chinese and Korean languages, probably from the translation intelligence section organized early in the Pacific war.

Nor was there any official indication as yet as to the identity of the chief representative to be named by Ridgway for the later formal armistice negotiations.

It was believed possible this job may be given to Ridgway's top field commander, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, chief of the U. S. Eighth Army and of all UN land forces in Korea.

Congress toned down the Declaration from Jefferson's original draft, mostly by omitting certain "superfluous language" containing uncomplimentary references to the King of England, the slave trade, and the English people.

However, as finally adopted, the Declaration of Independence was almost all Jefferson's language. All his life, Jefferson was far more proud of having written it than of being President.

Four days later, on July 8, 1776, the famous Liberty Bell pealed the entire day atop Independence Hall, summoning Philadelphians to a public reading of the Declaration of Independence. The Liberty Bell was cracked in 1835.

It will ring no more, but the legend it bears: "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the Land Unto

All the Inhabitants Thereof" still rings the bell with Americans.

Today, the Declaration of Independence is enshrined for all time with the Constitution of the United States in a hermetically-sealed glass showcase at the Library of Congress on Capitol Hill. The sealed showcase completely protects the priceless documents from the ravages of time.

He said, however, that the main purpose of the enlarged rearmament program is not to fight a war in Korea, "but to develop strength rapidly to prevent a world war, or to be prepared should it be forced upon us."

The presidential aide added that "if we were to relax now, the sacrifice of our men in Korea might have been made in vain."

Harriman declared: "I believe the Kremlin considers the attack on Korea as a major blunder. They expected to attain an easy victory, demoralize the United Nations, and discredit American leadership."

"Not only has this plan failed, but the aggression in Korea has aroused our country and our allies to undertake greatly accelerated rearmament for defense. The Kremlin would like nothing better than to have us think that we can safely relax, while the Soviets continue to build their military strength."

LIBRARIES OPERATING AGAIN

Ohio Museum Salvaging Manuscripts After Fire

COLUMBUS, July 3 — Salvage operations following the fire in the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society library stacks two weeks ago have been virtually completed, officials have announced.

The blaze, which occurred shortly before noon on June 12, was started by sparks from welders' torches being used on new stack construction.

The sparks smoldered in a protective canvas which had been suspended in front of manuscripts, books, and newspapers, and burst into flame after workmen had gone to lunch. Quick action on the part of the Columbus fire department, members of which were careful to avoid excessive water damage, extinguished the fire in a relatively short time.

The loss, though serious, was not so great as at first feared. None of the extremely rare and valuable documents or books was seriously damaged, as they are stored in locked vaults some distance from the scene of the fire.

THE NUMBER OF manuscripts totally destroyed was relatively small, but approximately 200,000 suffered damage from the fire or water. Of the 68,000 printed volumes in the library, some 7,300 were destroyed or damaged to some extent.

About 1,500 volumes of newspapers, most of them less than fifty years old, were completely consumed in the blaze or were in red in varying degrees. This figure represents about three percent of the total collection.

The 13,500 rolls of microfilm, much of which is master negative stored at the museum as a service to the newspaper publishers of Ohio, were untouched either by fire or water.

Staff members began the task of salvaging damaged materials as soon as the fire was under control.

Several crews transported wet and charred boxes and volumes to various parts of the building, where they were given immediate attention.

The reference and newspaper libraries operated throughout the emergency period and are again functioning normally. Damaged material is not available for use in research, however. A period of several years will be required to repair the salvaged manuscripts.

Walnut Hill Man Loses Driving Rights Here

Butler Austin, 46, of Walnut Hill lost his driving rights for six months Monday after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving before Judge Earl D. Parker in Pickaway County common pleas court.

In addition to suspending the man's license, Judge Parker fined him $100 and costs and sentenced him to 30 days in Pickaway jail. The jail sentence and $50 of the fine were suspended.

Austin was arrested last weekend on East Main street by Circleville Police Officers Harold Green and John White. In a preliminary hearing before Mayor Thurman I. Miller he was held for grand jury action on $500 bond.

Austin was taken before Judge Parker Monday on a bill of information filed by Acting Prosecutor Emmitt Crist.

Strolling Tots Keep Cops Busy

CINCINNATI, July 3—Cincinnati police routines are being upset by a pair of nocturnal ramblers—ages two and three.

Charles Sandlin and his little brother, James, were found at 2:15 a. m. yesterday calmly taking their constitutional near their home.

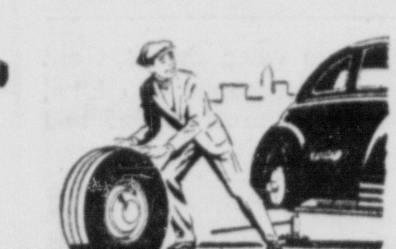

Last Wednesday it was 5 a. m. when they toddled out for a breath of air. And the same thing has happened several times, previously.

Officers said Charles apparently awakens at odd hours, thinks it would be nice to have Jimmie for company, and the pair stroll out of the house.

The Denver Post said the missing papers were carried by one of the passengers, Lt. Col. Merle A. Parks, who was enroute from Korea to Washington. The Army refused to confirm or deny the story.

County Roadside Park May Get Added Facilities

A well and pump to supply Pickaway County picnickers with drinking water may be installed at the county's roadside park in Saltcreek Township.

County Engineer Henry T. McCrady reported that installation of the well is being considered.

The roadside park, consisting of a fireplace, two tables and benches on the Tariton-Adelphi Road near Salt Creek, was constructed last Summer by the engineering department.

"It was strictly a county project," said McCrady. "We built it out of old materials. No money was spent out of any county funds."

NOW—FREEDOM NEEDS YOU!

Just 175 years ago our forefathers needed Freedom so much they risked all their earthly goods to put together history's greatest declaration of a free people. . . . Since then we've enjoyed a big package of freedom "for free". . . . And now Freedom needs us, lest in time to come she become no more than a worn-out word in a dog-eared dictionary. . . .

How would you like to roll out of bed some dark morning and have a big palooka tell you where you're going to work that week, what your wife's going to wear, and what your kids have to do?

Don't shrug it off, sink it in—it can happen here!

The point is, we're more likely to toss Freedom away ourselves—unthinking as with an old cigarette butt—than lose it in a fight.

Over the years we have tended to become a nation of spectators of the things that keep us free, just as we are at baseball games, movies, or our TV sets. In government, we have tended to become a nation of Monday-morning quarterbacks, grandstand umpires and sideline sophisticates.

Haven't we?

We watch a few others vote then gripe because the wrong man gets in and moral standards suffer.

We look on while the community discusses a project then kick like steers because the new school didn't get built.

We view with alarm prices going up but don't stop to think of helping the economy by putting some of our excess change into savings.

Here are four short words to think about; Work, Save, Vote, Pray.

It takes doing things like that to keep Freedom solvent—and America needs 150 million people in the act.

Sure, we need tougher tanks, "jettier" jets and more devastating bombs and the brave men to handle them to keep our country safe.

But doesn't real American Freedom start with you and me right in the old hometown?

Doesn't it?

Blaming everything on sun spots will not ease the disappointment of farmers whose crops have been drowned out or burned up, even if it is the right answer.

U. S. Department of Agriculture spent three times as much supporting the price of potatoes as it did for agricultural research. Research doesn't vote.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Fundamentally, this nation owes its existence to the yearning of men for liberty of person—to the inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

For 169 years, prior to the American Revolution, the men and women who had come to these shores from many countries, England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany, Sweden, Holland, Spain, Portugal and even Poland, concerned themselves with these problems. They were adherents of many different and separate religious faiths which they wished to pursue without hindrance.

No one had come to the North American continent because of a deep yearning to be here. Most of the immigrants uprooted themselves from the soil of their ancestors and the traditions of centuries because their days had become filled with miseries. They had suffered religious, social, economic and political persecution. They left Europe to find freedom.

Their problems and discussions were not unlike those of Job and his friends who, no matter how much they rationalized the situation, were everlastingly faced by the same mystery: What is man? Why is he different from all else in nature? What is his relationship to God? Job put it this way:

"As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment; and the Almighty, who hath vexed my soul;

All the while my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils; My lips shall not speak wickedness, nor my tongue utter deceit.

God forbid that I should justify You, Till I die I will not remove mine integrity from me.

My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go; My heart shall not reproach me so long as I live."

When the 56 men who prepared the Declaration of Independence met to consider separation from Great Britain, they found that they required not one but two statements. The second was a bill of particulars as to the political causes for the separation. This statement makes interesting reading this year, particularly the complaint that deals with depreciated currency.

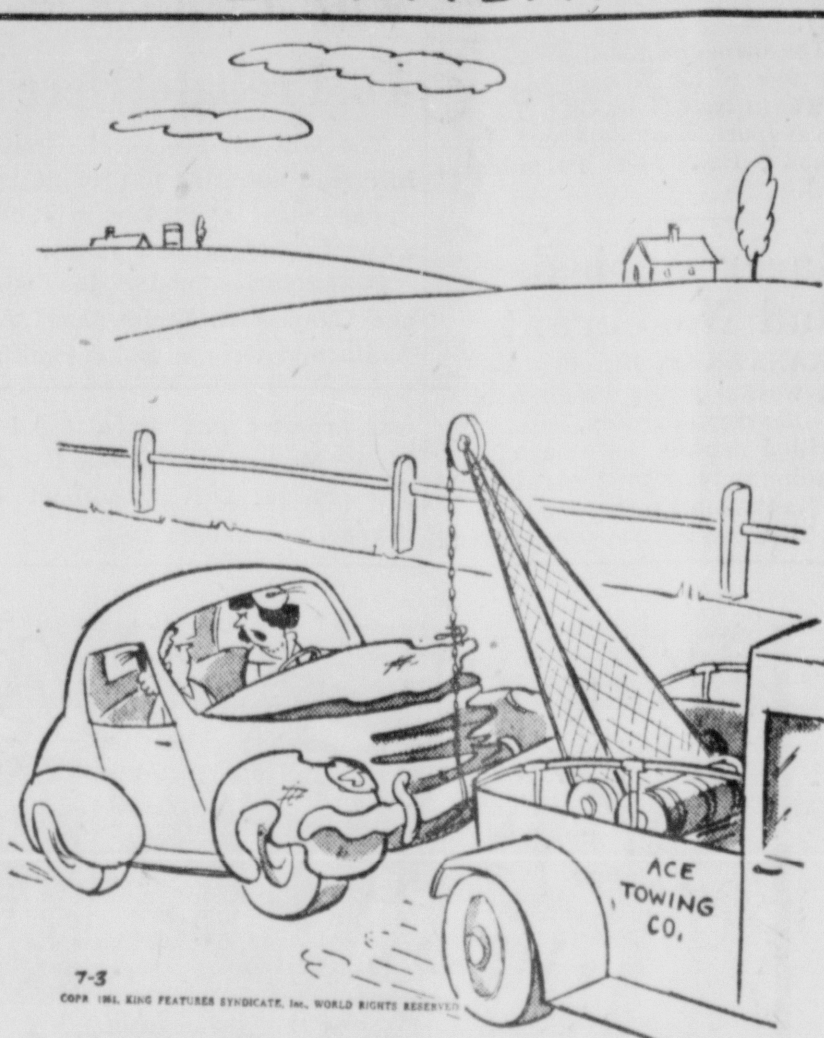

However, that bill of particulars was not sufficient for such men as Jefferson, Franklin and the Adamses. They were philosophers who could not get away from the problem that had been troubling their ancestors for so many generations.

More political separation meant too little until morality, that is natural law, the revealed law of God, justified not only the separation but the existence of the new state. That involved them in one of the most curious phenomena in history, for they founded a new nation not on power but on morality; not in protest but in affirmation. The first statement in the Declaration of Independence has nothing to do with whether England was right or wrong; it had to do with man's relationship to God. (Continued on Page Eight)

Chinese Communists have lost over a million men in Korea. How we love to pore over that fact, Christian people that we are.

"Everybody talks about heaven ain't goin' there," is part of an old spiritual. Everybody in Congress who talks about economy ain't goin' there, either.

Early Operation Now Advised For Hip Fracture In The Aged

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NOWHERE has our thinking changed more radically than in cases of fracture of the hip, so frequent in the aged. Formerly, such patients were examined to see if it would be safe to operate; today, they are examined to see if operation can be safely delayed.

In other words, the value of early operation is now clearly understood, and the penalties of keeping an aged patient in bed for long periods of time thoroughly demonstrated. Among these are heart failure, pneumonia, and other serious conditions. On the other hand, new surgical techniques make operation much safer than it formerly was.

Age No Bar

Studies of a group of 42 patients with fractured hip show that extreme age is no bar to operations of this kind. Thirty of the 42 patients were over 72 years of age; 17 over 80, and one patient was 91 years old.

Thirty-five of this group were operated on, 21 in less than 72 hours after their admission to the hospital, and 4 within 24. Results showed that the earlier such operations can be carried out, the better the patient will fare.

Pain Reduced

By fixing the bone ends, pain is greatly reduced and the patient is freed from shock. Moreover, he can be moved readily from one position to another, a thing of great importance in preventing complications. Patients are allowed to sit up quite early and to get out of bed as soon as possible following surgery.

Of course, in any operation on the aged, certain precautions must be observed. The anesthetic should be the lightest possible, and the use of drugs for relieving pain kept to a minimum, since they tend to have a depressing effect on vital functions, which greatly increases the chances of complications.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. L. F.: My legs ache from the knees down, the front of them. What would cause this?
Answer: The condition may be caused by inflammation of the muscles, decreased circulation, or arthritis. An examination by the doctor is needed to determine the exact cause before treatment can be suggested.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

Miss Madeline Buzzell, Summit, N. J., will spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Will and son Charles, West Mound street.

Mr. Charles Walters, Lancaster Pike and Miss Florence Hoffman, East Union street, left Wednesday for Knoxville, Tenn., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Gehres and daughter.

Twenty-five years ago C. H. Sligh of Greentown, Ind., will return to Circleville and open up the West Main street mill and elevator.

Miss Mary Reid has been appointed clerk and cashier by Manager Cotton W. Clark of Western Union Telegraph Co.

Charles Kile and family, and Bonaparte Petty of Beaumont, Ill., have been the guests of Fred Bauman and family.

Bennett Cerf's Try, Stop Me

There's a neat twist in this story of Sam Levenson's. A cloak and suit manufacturer, obviously born abroad, was taunted on his Americanism by a bigoted blue-blood. "What kind of American are you, after all?" sneered the blue-blood. "Why, my ancestor came over on the Mayflower." The cloak and suit man, unperturbed, replied, "Maybe it's lucky they did. By the time I arrived, the immigration laws were a lot stricter."

Gertrude Lawrence was starring in a London play that was honored by a visit from the King and Queen. As Queen Elizabeth entered the Royal Box, the entire audience arose to acclaim her. Miss Lawrence, watching from the wings, murmured, "What an entrance!" Noel Coward, on tip-toe behind her, added, "What a part!"

A fading actress complained to Critic George Jean Nathan, "I don't see why the manager won't offer me a decent part. I'm only approaching forty." "Yes, my dear," agreed Nathan, "but from which direction?"

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
THE Adam Douglasses' apartment was small, but compact and beautifully appointed. Millicent made coffee and set the table while Julie made the salad. The boys smoked in the living room and exchanged gossip. The chow mein was ready.

"Before we sit down, I have some champagne for us to celebrate. Julie has just told me she will marry me," Jeffrey said when Millicent came in to call them to the table.

"Oh, Julie! Why didn't you tell me?" cried his sister-in-law.

"I—Oh, it's all been so sudden," said Julie breathlessly.

Kisses were exchanged and the champagne sipped. "Oh, I think it's perfectly wonderful!" Millicent said. "And to think maybe I had something to do with it!"

"Darling, you probably browbeat the girl into it!" chided Adam. "Well, here's to your happiness, dear ones!"

When at last they were alone in Jeff's car, he asked, "When?" holding her hand as he drove out onto the ocean highway.

"How about June?"

"Darling, you wouldn't make me wait until June, now would you?" "It's going to be a surprise to my folks, Jeff. But I'll think about it. April?"

"April? All those months! Do you believe in long engagements? Oh, honey, anything you say! I suppose a church wedding?"

"I've always wanted one. Mother would expect it, too."

"And I, too. We'll do the traditional things, let your family have its rightful part in it."

Julie said, "How will your mother feel, Jeff? Is it going to be too much of a surprise to her?"

"No. It shouldn't be. I took you to meet her especially. She knew that I hoped to marry you."

"Oh, Jeff, I'll try to make her like me!" Julie said in an anxious voice.

Jeff stopped the car, then turned it out into a side view-point space. He turned off the ignition and then, taking Julie's hands, said, "You're going to please her, darling, I'm sure. Mother's not a very affectionate person—rather cold by nature. But she's very understanding, has a keen sense of the need for planning ahead. Now let's talk about us."

It was so easy to forget all her uneasy little fears in the excitement of their plans. "Would you like to build a new house, darling, or buy an older one that's ready to move into?"

His first opera, Enrico Comte di Borgogna, was given at Venice. His Anna Bolena, produced in Milan, carried his name beyond his own country, but when his Marino Faliero was performed in Paris, it won no acclaim, and, disappointed, he went to Naples where Lucia di Lammermoor had an enormous success. My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—The legend is that those lost souls who claim not to have any neuroses are the most neurotic of all, so there will be no such claims made in this corner. While it probably is true, there is no sense in leading with your chin—especially when on very close examination, you discover what amounts to a mild complex. My complex is that I don't like Fifty-Seventh street.

The number of streets in the five magnificently dissimilar boroughs of New York City must be well into the thousands, and it seems nonsensical to pick out one of them as a hate fetish. But it is so.

I can wander happily along little Gay street downtown, where years ago if you were lucky and early enough in the morning you could hear some inspired piano music by Joe Sullivan before he racked it up and went to bed, and I can be completely at ease on Pineapple street in Brooklyn or the Grand Concourse in the Bronx. Name me a street and I can acclimate myself to it. All except 57th.

Likely it is because 57th is a street you can set down in any other big city around America and it would melt into it. It could become part of Detroit with no effort at all, or you could join it up with Market and Walnut in Philly and never know the difference. It is a big, long, good-looking main street, full of concert halls and thrift shops and it has absolutely no character at all.

A great deal of this non-Manhattan atmosphere about 57th likely is due to its population, permanent and transient. Start over by the East river at Sutton Place, for example. This area is full of apartment houses in which the rents are high and the residents frustrated suburbanites. I speak generally, naturally.

You will see station wagons here and trim-looking women in cashmere sweaters and skirts, with only slight circles under their eyes from the big party the night before, and nursemaids and reasonably well-behaved children in clean cloths. Life is casual here, and, I suppose, not too bad, but it bears no resemblance to New York.

When you start drifting westward on 57th, you come promptly to the Third Avenue Elevated, whose seedy grandeur can give to almost any other part of the city at least a spurious air of New Yorkishness. Not 57th. A swanky neighborhood movie house—the Sutton—a tea shoppe type restaurant, a big orchid-stuffed florist's shop and other accessories defy the El. Close your eyes a moment, then open them suddenly and look swiftly around. Are you in Boston or Chicago?

HERE AND THERE, as you make your way toward the other river, you come across isolated New York oases—Tiffany's big, Grand Central-type building, the Ritz Tower, Carnegie Hall . . . and yet these and all the other places are, you decide finally, more international than Manhattan.

There are big dress houses here, and yet they are the kind of shops which seem to have more of a lure for the chic woman who may be on 57th today and the Rue de la Paix tomorrow. Carnegie Hall, of course, is a kind of wheezing and ancient fairyland, where the strange souls from the half-world of classical music pour in and out. To the big-league violinists, or the pianists who can get through Rachmaninoff's Second without drawing a long breath, Carnegie is just another stop on the concert route—the biggest stop by far, of course, but just another stop. When Heifetz plays here, the boxes are apt to be sprinkled with admirers who last saw him in Prague or Berlin.

What detracts most from the New York air of 57th, possibly, is the abundance of art galleries. Now, some of the most famous galleries in the world are situated here and there, clustered almost as thickly as the saloons in River street in Hoboken, and 60 blocks to the south in Greenwich Village a hundred painters are sweating out the days and praying for the day when their work will be hung up in 57th. But they make for an ethereal feeling that seems to have nothing in common with nervous, jangling, cigaret-in-mouth Manhattan.

Songwriters tool past the galleries in taxicabs and never give them the time of day and stenographers use the shiny glass windows as mirrors, to straighten their hats. It is fine and good to have these citadels of culture along 57th street, but in a cloudy way I am trying to say that if they all lost their leases tomorrow, the city never would miss them. They don't seem New York.

Early History, Pointers
On Display Of Flag
For 4th Told By DAR

175 Anniversary
Being Observed

"We take the stars and blue from Heaven, the red from the mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing we have separate from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

In this manner George Washington described the flag under which he took command of the colonial forces in 1775 in "ambridge, Mass."

In 1777 Congress adopted the following resolution: Resolved, that the flag of the United States should be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field, representing a constellation.

For a time, a stripe was added as each state was admitted to the union, but with the addition of several states the flag soon became unwieldy and so in 1818 Congress adopted a resolution returning to the original stripes and adding a star only to the Union.

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Daughters of American Revolution chapter chairman is requesting all members, patriotic citizens, and organizations to display the flag on July 4, the 175th anniversary of our independence.

Information on display of the flag and respect due it is given by the DAR as follows:

The flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset. It should never remain out over night except during war. The only exception to the rule is the flag flying from the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C., which is never lowered except for replacement.

An old, torn, or soiled flag should be destroyed, preferably by burning.

The law specifically forbids the use of and the representation of the flag in any manner or in any connection with merchandise offered for sale.

The flag should never be allowed to touch the ground.

In raising a flag to full mast, it should first be raised to full mast and then lowered; from which position it should be raised to full mast before being lowered.

The flag should never be draped.

In hanging a flag against a wall, either horizontal or perpendicular, the blue field should be at the spectator's left.

When displayed on a staff from a platform, the flag should be at the speaker's right; if displayed from the floor, the flag should be at the right of the audience.

When displaying a flag across a street, the points of the compass are used: The blue field should point toward the north when hung across an east-west street; the blue should be toward the east when hung across a north-south street.

The flag at half-mast is a sign of mourning; the flag up side down is a signal of distress.

On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag is flown at half mast until noon in memory of the dead; it is then raised to full mast to signify that the nation still lives.

When a flag is carried with one other flag, it holds the place of honor, the marching right;

Best Things In Life
Are Not Always Free

We come to the painful realization that the best things of life are not free. The privilege, for instance, of living and conducting a business under our American system of free enterprise has a price tag on it. Last year, our company paid $229,681.95 in taxes in addition to the $531,917.64 in federal taxes which customers themselves paid on telephone service charges. That's a total of about $761,599.59, or $1.46 per telephone per month.

This year it will be higher. We pay seven major tax bills, the Federal Income Tax, the Public Utility Property Tax, the Ohio State Excise Tax, the Social Security Tax, an Ohio Real Estate Tax, the Ohio Public Utilities Commission Tax and the State Sales Tax. There are a few other miscellaneous items. These taxes are a significant part of the cost of furnishing your telephone service.

TIGHTER FOOD LAW ASKED

Solon Warning Untested Chemical Can Cause Harm

WASHINGTON, July 3 — Hundreds of untested and unproved chemicals in the hands of irresponsible food manufacturers are threatening the health and lives of U.S. families, according to Rep. James J. Delaney, D. N.Y.

Delaney is chairman of the nonpartisan House Select-Committee to Investigate the Use of Chemicals in Food Products.

"In the year that the House committee has been investigating the problem, scores of noted scientists have testified that the rapid rate at which substances, heretofore, foreign to the body, are being introduced directly or indirectly into our food is alarming and may have a serious effect on the health of all of us, especially our children," Delaney says.

The New York congressman points out that "the Food and Drug Administration has listed 70 chemicals which are being used in our regular food supply, of which only 428 are known to be safe. In other words, 276 chemicals are unknown and untested quantities, and some of them may be slowly poisoning us."

THE DANGER, HE finds, is coming from the relatively cheap and effective chemicals for preservatives, blenders, softeners, bleachers, emulsifiers, insect and fungus killers and crop stimulants.

"A decade or so ago the situation was relatively innocuous," he reports "but since the war, during which new agents were discovered almost daily, the use of chemicals in foodstuffs has blossomed at a rate like the proverbial green bay tree."

Delaney claims that doctors testifying before the House committee have stated that there may be some connection between these new chemicals and the increase of such diseases as cancer, polio and the mysterious virus X.

He urges legislation that would parallel the safeguards set up in the drug field by amendment to the Food and Drug Act passed in 1938.

This law requires that a drug manufacturer submit evidence to show that a new chemical is noninjurious before he introduces it—even if the tests take ten years to complete.

Under present legislation the Food and Drug administration cannot act in the food field until after a product has been on the market, he emphasizes. Delaney calls this "a legal joker that permits us to become a nation of 150 million guinea pigs guilelessly testing out chemicals that should have been tested adequately before they reached our kitchen shelves."

HE CITES THE CASE of a Massachusetts brewery which tried using hydrofluoric acid in its beer to make unnecessary the sterilization of the beer. The acid, however, is a serious poison. Before the government was able to step in and stop the practice, the beer had been sold all over the country.

The New York congressman is careful to point out that no reputable food manufacturer would knowingly use a substance known to be harmful. "Indeed," he says, "most of the big processors of nationally advertised products maintain elaborate laboratories where tests are constantly being made to safeguard the public."

Retail Business Drops Off Here, Tax Tally Shows

A drop in Pickaway County business during the week ending June 16 from the same week last year was revealed in a report of state sales tax collections here.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported total county sales tax collections for the week as $5,641.95, a drop of $1,046.92 from the $6,688.87 collected during the corresponding week in 1950.

Tracy pointed out, however, that throughout the state collections for 1950-51 approached the $150 million mark for the first time in Ohio history as the fiscal year closes Saturday.

With totals for two weeks yet to be tallied, Tracy reported the fiscal year total at $141,463,982.03 as of the week ending June 16.

IN MID-JUNE last year total receipts were $119,578,029.66, some $25 million under receipts for this year.

Gross sales of the tax stamps shown by industry classification revealed a drop in all classes of industry listed except food and miscellaneous stores during the week ending June 16.

But for most of the year receipts showed an increase over weekly collections of last year.

After the state legislature cut vendors' discounts on tax stamp purchases from three to two percent, receipts slumped briefly, then fell off.

In counties neighboring Pickaway tax stamp sales for the week ending June 16, compared to the same week last year, were as follows, with 1951 figures listed first:

Fairfield, $11,768.85 and $15,057.63; Fayette, $6,985.62 and $6,432.15; Franklin, $192,789.68 and $209,554.41; Highland, $6,292.34 and $5,414.09; Hocking, $4,031.34 and $5,512.39; Madison, $4,827.84 and $4,807.21; and Ross, $10,549.68 and $13,747.34.

Restrainer Due To Be Sought In Wage Hike Case

COLUMBUS, July 3—Attorney General C. William O'Neill will ask Franklin County common pleas court to dissolve a restraining order holding up pay increases for some 28,000 state employees.

The order was granted last week on the pleas of Sales Tax Examiner John L. Nolan, who claimed the increase approved by the recent legislature discriminates against employees with greater length of service.

O'Neill said yesterday he will ask that the temporary order be set aside as soon as a copy of it is served on Finance Director Herbert D. Defenbacher.

The court order defers payment of automatic increases which would have been effective yesterday. It does not affect a five percent cost of living pay boost.

Teen Tips

"How can I get acquainted with him?" Has that question ever puzzled you... set your date-dreaming when you were supposed to be engrossed in algebra or French verbs? Here's a letter from a girl who wants to know the answer:

"I am 14 years old and I like a boy who is the same age. I am not sure whether he likes me or not. Would it be forward on my part if I asked him to go to a show? I am sure he would say yes, but it might be just to be polite. How can I make him like me?"

Ans.—The boy should be the first one to suggest a date—always. If the girl is the first to mention a date, it's likely to give the boy an impression she's too eager... chasing him.

But there's something else you can do to get better acquainted with him and let him know that you like him... and perhaps put date-making ideas into his head.

Everybody, girls and boys, invites friends to their homes for an evening of fun... it's a friendly thing to do and doesn't necessarily mean anything—anything special, that is—in the romance department. So why not ask a girl friend and a boy she knows, then you could simply tell this boy that a couple of friends are coming to your home Friday night and it would be fun if he could come, too.

Try to invite people he knows, if possible... it will be more fun with less shyness. You could play cards, make candy or popcorn balls, play games and have something good to eat — ice cream, if possible.

For tips on party games, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

Farmers Urged Be On Lookout For Corn Borer

WASHINGTON, July 3 — Agriculture Secretary Brannan has urged farmers to use effectively the best materials available for the control of the corn borer.

He warned the insect pest is a potentially serious threat to this year's corn crop.

Brannan said this year it is doubly important that effective control measures be taken, not only because of the urgent need for better than average yields, but also because of limited supplies of DDT—the best insecticide for borer control.

Corn borer specialists point out that the key to good control is proper timing. They say farmers alerted to the danger will determine the need for treatment by checking for egg deposits on the underside of the leaf. Usually corn should be treated 10 to 12 days after the larvae begin to emerge from the eggs.

THIS WILL BE at about the peak of the hatch and approximately when the "shot hole" damage become readily evident. Experts warn these recommendations only apply to the first generation of corn borers.

Farmers were told to use either DDT or ryania to control the corn borer. Application either as a spray or a dust gives satisfactory results if applied at the proper time and rates.

Ryania, although usually more expensive than DDT, should be used where fodder is to be fed to dairy animals or those being fattened for slaughter. That's because DDT remaining in the fodder may show up in the milk or in the fat.

Some 50 percent of polio patients recover completely.

2 Are Killed In Cafe Dispute

BRANCHVILLE, S. C., July 3 —An argument over a juke box in a Branchville cafe was blamed today for a gun battle in which two men, including the town's police chief, were killed and seven others injured.

Police Chief J. W. Ethridge was killed by a shotgun blast Sunday when he entered the cafe to stop the shooting. Robert Barnes also was slain in the gunfight.

Sheriff George L. Reed of Orangeburg County held Carroll Gant on charges of slaying the police chief.

WHY NOT READ IT AGAIN? U.S. Declaration Made 175 Years Ago Still Stands

NEW YORK, July 3—We live in times full of crises, alarms, war, taxation, political guff and civilian malarky.

Ulcers, the wound stripe of so-called civilization, nibble at the vital of the populace.

But on the virtual eve of the Fourth of July, why not sit down for a few minutes and read the Declaration of Independence, which a little group of "wild men," the Continental Congress, adopted in Philadelphia 175 years ago.

The first three sentences alone are like a cool hand on a fevered brow.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident," reads the second sentence, "that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

No men ever said more in one sentence; no group ever said it better. Those words inspired a

Wheat Field Yields Wanted Man To Police

Local lawmen spent almost an hour out in a rainstorm Saturday afternoon while tracking down an Indiana man wanted for non-support by Franklin County authorities.

Armed with a warrant accusing Charles Richard Kneese of Indiana of non-support, Sheriff Charles Radcliff went to Lover's Lane Saturday to pick up the man, who was visiting with friends.

Spotting the sheriff, the accused man fled through nearby fields and eluded the sheriff, Deputy James Diltz, Officer Carl Thompson and Dwight Radcliff, the sheriff's son, for almost an hour.

Finally tracking the man down to a wheat field, the sheriff and Officer Thompson stationed themselves outside the field while Diltz and young Radcliff donned boots and started through the field.

About midway through the field, watersoaked and muddy, the hunted man stood up to confront Diltz.

"Are you guys looking for me?" he asked innocently.

Kneese was later turned over to Franklin County authorities.

Embezzlement Case Started

TOLEDO, July 3 — Henry Fearing, 46, was held in Lucas County jail under $5,000 bond on charges of embezzling $11,721 from the Champion Spark Plug company's credit union.

Fearing, who waived a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Stanley A. Grzesinski Saturday, entered a plea of innocent and was held for grand jury action.

Certified public accountants, who audited the books, said total losses may amount to $23,000 since 1944.

The spectacle of unskilled Iranians coping with what might well be the most complicated set of business books in the world edged its way into the oil nationalization dispute with a decided softening of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's attitude.

Two thousand British clerks, accountants and other office employees of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. walked off their jobs in the huge combine in protest against a law which would have made them liable to death for alleged sabotage in opposing rules of the new nationalized organization.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady immediately went to see the aged Mossadegh, who obviously was shocked and shaken by the walkout.

He promised without loss of time to drop the sabotage bill and was overjoyed when Grady said he would ask the British government to do what it could to keep the workers on their jobs.

For all its extreme gravity, the Iranian situation, like other international crises of the past, has its grotesque aspects.

The problem of keeping the books obviously is one of them.

interests of thousands who own shares all over the world and the basic material problems of getting the oil out of the ground, loading it on ships and delivering it to destinations.

The situation in Iran has eased, but it is not solved.

MOSSADEGH insists that the AIOC no longer exists as such, that it is a nationalized company and that no one but Iran is qualified to sell Persian oil.

Britain has made her position clear. She has no objection to "some form" of nationalization, but holds that Britain must have a place in the administration of the fields, control the shipments and parcel out Iran's royalties on a business-like basis.

As Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell said: "We British have made our decision and we British don't give up easily."

The most that can be said is that the Iranians have begun to make concessions. It is at least a beginning.

Sokolsky's

In — word, the American nation came into existence on the affirmation that man is a creation of God and is graced with qualities that are his, at birth, as a special gift from God. Upon these words rests the American nation.

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness—that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

In these days of intellectual and moral confusion these words need to be pondered. For nations come and go in history, their strength powered by a spiritual dynamism. Their decay rarely is the product of material deterioration or defeat in war. These are results, not cause. Their decay is the product of the weakening of their spiritual motivation—the Declaration of Independence. On that rock, we stand.

Snead Looming As Winner Again Of PGA Contest OAKMONT, Pa., July 3—Samuel Jackson Snead stood on the threshold of new golfing honors today and found the door barred only by a 32-year-old upstart who reached the Professional Golfers' Association championship round on his first attempt.

Snead—seeking to become the third three-time winner of the PGA and the first since 1933—met blond Walter Burkemo, an obscure Detroit club pro, in today's 36-hole final at Oakmont Country Club.

It could go a lot fewer than 36, judging from what Snead did to another rank-and-filer yesterday. For Siammin' Sam, playing some of the finest golf of his colorful career, annihilated 29-year-old Charles Bassler of Cantonville, Md., 9 and 8.

In the other semifinal, Burkemo came back from three down at the end of 18 holes and two down with two to go to defeat seasoned Ellsworth Vines, the national tennis champion of a decade ago, on the 37th green.

That indicated the courage of this twice-wounded ex-infantryman, but it didn't seem that courage would be enough against Snead. For the drawing West Virginian shot a 33-36-69 on the first 18 and Bassler, and was three more under par for his ten after-luncheon holes.

Trailing by 12-8 going into the final inning, the Harpster and Yost team came up with two home runs in the last inning to take the win. Homer-hitters were Harry Redman and Robin Jones.

Dick Weaver, was credited with the win for the H and Y aggregation, while Chuck Ruhl was charged with GE's loss. Line score of the game follows: H and Y — 221 021 5—13 18 6 GE — 712 101 0—12 6 7

Jones Collects Amateur Crown YOUNGSTOWN, July 3—Smiling, bespectacled Tom Jones Jr., the hometown golfer who made good, finally handed Youngstown its first Ohio Amateur golf championship in 47 years.

No one from Youngstown, until Sunday, had won the OA title since the tournament started in 1904.

Yanks Back 'Home' With Loop Lead

Chisox Falter Against Tribe

NEW YORK, July 3—Put the New York Yankees in first place and they find a home, just as the world champions a taste of the lead and it acts as a better pick-me-up than all the vitamin from A to Z.

Much to the chagrin of the Chicago White Sox, the Yankees regard that top spot with possessive affection. They may be hard to get out once they're in.

The Bronx Bombers illustrated this last night when they led up their new found American League advantage to one full game by breaking out of a two week batting slump with a 14 to 5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The White Sox helped matters along by dropping a 3 to 2 decision to the Cleveland Indians.

Yankee bats boomed for a total of 20 hits off three Athletic hurlers. The hits were good for 36 total bases and Hank Baue paced the attack with a pair of two-run homers.

THEY MADE SEVEN hits in a big eight-run fifth inning, highlighted by four-baggers by Bauer and Gene Woodling.

Big Chief Allie Reynolds was the prosperous pitcher for the Bombers. Old Wahoo won his sixth straight and his ninth of the season despite the fact that two of his streaks went down the drain.

The A's broke through Allie's no-walk, no-run roadblock in the fourth inning when Ferris Fair homered with two on. These were the first runs allowed by Reynolds in 31 2-3 innings.

When Eddie Joost walked in this frame it ended a skein of 37 2-3 innings of pass—10 frames by the Yankee right hander.

Reynolds, who allowed five hits, gave up two more runs in the ninth inning on Gus Zernia's nineteenth homer.

The loss was the first for starter Bobby Shantz after five straight wins for the All-Star lefty.

Mike Garcia got credit for his eighth win in Cleveland's triumph over the White Sox although he needed help from Steve Gromek and Lou Brissie. Saul Rogovin was the loser for the Chisox.

Rookie Leo Kiely won his first major league start for the Boston Red Sox as he bested Connie Marrero and the Washington Senators, 5 to 2.

Eight Teams Will Play In Tourney

County Softball Test Due July 10

An eight-team tournament for Pickaway County softball fans will begin next Tuesday in Ted Lewis Park.

James Callihan, commissioner of softball for this county, said Harpster and Yost softballers are to meet Plas-tics Corp. at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the park to open the tournament.

Under a new statewide setup, each county is to have its own softball eliminations this season, with the top four teams slated to go into district competition.

Callihan said the move was made to whittle down the number of teams competing in district tournaments. This district's tourney, to be held July 24 in Portsmouth, will have 28 teams competing.

Two games have been carded for the opening night of the local tournament and two for July 11.

At 9 p. m. next Tuesday, Scioto Elks is slated to meet the Hat softballers, who last year won the district title and advanced into the state finals.

Schedule for July 11 to complete the first round of the single elimination tournament calls for Eshelman Hill vs. Kingston at 8 p. m. while Dunlaps of Williamsport will meet B and C Oilers of Ashville at 9 p. m.

Winners of the first-round games automatically will be eligible to compete in the district tournament, since they will be the only four teams left in the local match. However, the county tourney will be played out to determine the championship team.

Semifinal schedule for the tourney calls for winner of Harpster and Yost vs. Plas-tics to meet the winner of Scioto Elks vs. Top Hat at 8 p. m. July 12; and winner of Eshelman Hill vs. Kingston to meet the winner of Dunlaps vs. Ashville at 9 p. m. July 12.

Meanwhile, warmup games for the teams due to participate in the county elimination will be held this week.

A double bill featuring Plas-tics and Harpster and Yost in the first tilt at about 8 p. m. and Eshelman Hill vs. Kingston at 9 p. m. is carded for the park Tuesday night.

Thursday's park program will open with a midweek baseball contest between the White Sox and an all-star team from the park playground program.

WHITE SOX hardballers lead the park midweek league to date with two victories and no losses, while Dodgers in the program have won one and lost one and the Yankees have lost two.

Sox ballplayers will face members of the two lower bracket teams in the all-star fracas, scheduled to begin at about 7 p. m. Thursday. A softball game will follow.

Fish, Like Rabbits, Don't Sit On Stump Waiting For Hunters

Fish are where you find them and, according to research experts, it's about like hunting rabbits.

For instance, you will never see a rabbit hunter sitting on a stump in the middle of a field, waiting for the game to come to him. It would be a g wait between rabbits.

And yet, how many fishermen have you seen doing this very thing, just sitting in one spot, waiting for the fish to come to them? The good rabbit hunter tries all kinds of cover until he locates his game, then he concentrates on that type of cover. The good fisherman does the same thing. Here is a plan the experts suggest:

Start casting the shoreline with a floating-diving lure like the floating River Runt. If the water is clear, start the bait moving the second it strikes the water.

IF THE WATER is dingy, let it remain motionless for five or ten seconds, then start retrieving; this gives the fish time to find it when visibility is poor. Occasionally try a surface lure like a Crazy Crawler.

If no fish are taken around the shore, then try casting from the shore into the deeper water, using a sinking bait like the go-deeper River Runt, which will dig right on down to the bottom.

Next, try the heavier cover, like the moss beds, weed patches or lily pad fields. Cast a slow sinking lure like the Punkinseed or River Runt next to the cover and make a steady retrieve.

Occasionally try a jerky retrieve; also, stop and start the lure quickly, to give a varied action to your plug.

Perhaps the fish are far back in the pads or weeds. This calls for a weedless lure with pork chunk or strip. Toss one of these lures deep into the cover and retrieve slowly. When the fish strikes, set the hook today—tomorrow is too late.

Sunken logs, fallen trees, brush piles, small patches of cover, dropoffs, rocky shorelines are all excellent places to work. Approach quietly, don't let the fish know you are around or the big ones will give you a good letting alone.

AS A LAST RESORT when the aforementioned spots haven't produced, try this, and don't sell it short:

Tie a floating River Runt to the end of your line and about 18" away attach a sinker just large enough to sink the lure. Troll this slowly through the middle of the lake. The sinker will ride nicely over all types of cover while the lure will swim along behind, rarely snagging.

When you catch a fish, mark the spot well by picking landmarks in four directions, then visit this spot ten; it probably will pay off regularly.

Fish are where you find them. Don't be a one-spot, or a one-bait fisherman. Be systematic and once you hit upon a system that works, your stringer will grow heavier and your troubles lighter.

Hatters Score 3-1 Win Over Lancaster RBM

Top Hat softballers travelled to Lancaster Monday night to score a narrow 3-1 victory over Lancaster RBM's.

RBM held the invading Hatter crew at a 1-0 disadvantage for four innings during the contest until the Circleville aggregation broke up the match in the sixth with three runs.

Wilson Clark led off with a double for the Hatters in the sixth, scoring on a single by Ernest Ankrom. Lloyd Minor singled Ankrom to third and Ankrom scored on a wild pitch, while Minor later scored on a single by Ted Sims.

Neither team was able to connect for a score during the remainder of the game.

Stillman Morrison was the winning hurler for Top Hat, fanning six RBM batsmen, walking three and allowing seven safeties. Line score of the match follows:

Dodgers Score 11-6 Win Over Yanks In Park

Dodgers midget baseballers moved into second place in league standings in Ted Lewis Park Monday with an 11-6 win over Yankee sluggers.

Monday's win gave the Dodgers a .500 percent record for the season to date with a win and a loss, while the Yanks dropped to the midget loop cellar with two losses in as many starts.

Leading in the park program league are the White Sox, who have been unbeaten in two tests this season.

In Monday's fracas, the Yanks bounced off an early 4-2 lead at the end of two innings, although the Dodgers kept scoring steadily in every inning to come up with the 11-6 win.

Heavy hitters for the winning team were Merda Marshall and John Lewis, both of whom were credited with three hits in three tries. One of Lewis's hits was a home run, the first of the season in the park league, with two aboard.

TUESDAY'S program in the park called for girls' softball, boys' volleyball, board games, sidewalk tennis and free play period.

No program will be held Wednesday in the park. Thursday's schedule of activities call for boys' basketball, girls' croquet, story hour, "monkey move-up" and a marbles tournament.

Line score of Monday's Dodgers win follows:

Yanks	220	000	0	—6	5	2

Local Firemen Answer 66 Calls During First Half Of Year

Total Loss Is Tagged At $47,960

Only 20 Runs Entail Damage

Fires to which Circleville firemen were summoned to give aid during the first half of 1951 caused an estimated $47,960 in property damage.

Fire Chief Turner Wise Tuesday stated that Circleville firemen have been called for emergency aid a total of 66 times since January.

Wise explained that the total of both emergency runs and estimated damages includes fires in rural Pickaway County as well as in Circleville.

Largest single loss during the last half year was the $30,000 barn fire at the old Dr. Peters farm near Robtown. The blaze was spotted from the air by two passing aviators.

Next high on the list was an estimated $8,500 damage when the Harry Carter home near Kinderhook was completely destroyed by flames, and $4,000 for the Charles Bolender house near Fox Postoffice which was levelled by flames.

DAMAGE RESULTING from the recent airplane crash in Forest cemetery in which a Canal Winchester pilot was killed was estimated at about $2,200, along with $400 estimated damages to a car which was parked near the crash scene.

But only about 20 of the calls made during the period by the blaze-chasers entailed damages. Included in the 66 calls were three or four inhalator calls and an assortment of miscellaneous calls.

Firemen were called to rescue a cat from a sewer in Spring Hollow addition, rescue a raccoon from a tree on West Main street and to help persons whose roofs began leaking during the "big snow" last winter.

But topping those were several standby calls made last Spring to South Washington street, where a large wooden water tower was to be burned down.

After several fruitless attempts by would-be burners, the old tower was bombarded with gasoline from the air and set afire, finally burning it to the ground.

State Grange Tags Dowler As New Secretary

The election of John F. Dowler of Ashville as secretary of the Ohio State Grange was announced Tuesday in Columbus.

The executive committee said the secretary's office will be moved to Ashville from the hometown of Loren D. Hynes, Washington C. H., who resigned the job because of the press of private business.

Dowler, a native of Groveport, has been with the Grange for the last 38 years. He received his bachelor of science and master of science degrees at Ohio State university and was an OSU instructor between 1920 and 1933 in farm management and farm accountancy.

Dowler was a federal land bank appraiser for nearly two years, and was regional farm management specialist from 1935 to 1942 for what is now the Farm Home Administration.

The new secretary has a 106-acre farm near Ashville. He is a member of Scioto Valley Grange and serves Pickaway County as Grange deputy.

Divorce Petition Is Filed Here

The husband's petition states they were married Oct. 13, 1946, and have one child. He accuses the wife of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. His petition states that she has refused to come to the United States to live with him.

Miss Alley said her duties in the camp will be to instruct the youngsters in 4-H Club camp candlelight services, while Agent Schwartz will give instruction in the technique of leading in discussions.

The youngsters are to leave Circleville at about 8 a. m. Thursday and will return late Friday. The 4-H'ers will receive the instruction to prepare them for counsellor chores during the local Club camping programs.

Ag Officials Doubt Value Of Preserving Spray

WASHINGTON, July 3 — An agriculture official today cast doubt on published reports that a new spray—maleic hydrazide—that the product developed a starchy flavor and that the sprayed potatoes had about the same will keep potatoes, onions and several other vegetables fresh for a year or more.

Wilbert T. Pentzer of the agricultural research administration said the department had "nothing to report in favor" of the new spray, and in recent tests found some bad effects.

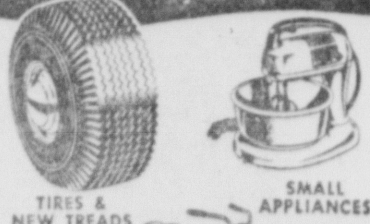

W. H. Pentzer of Michigan State college has been quoted as saying the maleic hydrazide experiments were successful and "we would hardly believe them possible."

Pentzer said Agriculture Department research on sweet potatoes resulted in the findings same storage life as those not treated.

The department's scientists consider the new chemical as a sprout inhibitor for such products as potatoes, carrots and onions, but they expressed surprise at the claims that the spray would keep produce fresh.

According to the published reports the spray arrests growth, which is so slow after spraying that the vegetables do not even die at the normal rate.

Capital Transit Strike Ending

WASHINGTON, July 3—Federal mediators early today brought about tentative settlement of Washington's two-day-old transit strike after nearly 17 hours of continuous negotiations.

Union negotiators for the striking bus and streetcar drivers accepted terms worked out under the director of Mediation Chief Cyrus Ching, but final acceptance must await a mass union meeting probably to be held late today.

Until the full union meets, details of the proposed settlement are being kept secret. Seniority and wages were involved in the strike.

Works 65 Years; Only Late Once

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., July 3—Just 65 years ago, Thomas W. Dumas went to work for the American Topical Co.

He has never missed a working day since and was late only once—the day after the blizzard of 1888 when he was three minutes late because he became engrossed with watching snow removal operations during the noon hour.

Duman, now 79, could retire, but says he might be "lonesome" if he had to stay at home all day.

Lights Help Turkey-Growers, Experts Find

WASHINGTON, July 3—Pennsylvania extension specialists say the use of artificial light will make turkey raising safer and easier.

They suggest turkey raisers place a ten-watt bulb at night over the hover stove to encourage the poult to bed down near it.

With the larger hot water systems, the electric lamp can be placed under the hover.

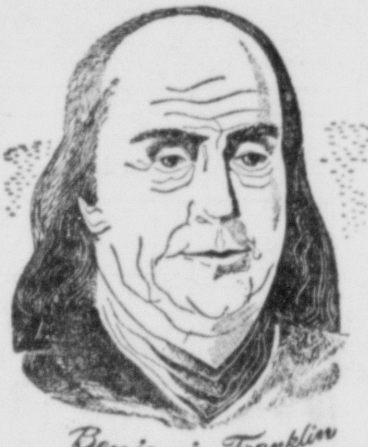

When poult are four to six weeks of age, the experts advise placing a small electric lamp over the roosts. The turkeys will follow the light at dusk and fly up to the roosts, and if this light isn't too strong the poult will settle here, too.

When turkeys are on range, they say it is a good idea to place a light near the roosts. Sometimes the birds are frightened and stampeded from the roosts into the darkness. If lights are on near the roosts the turkeys can find their way back.

Alimony Sums Set By Court

Charles J. Bangham has been ordered to pay $200 a month temporary alimony to Margaret F. Bangham by Judge Earl D. Parker in Pickaway County common pleas court during pendency of a divorce suit filed by the husband.

Also in common pleas court, payment of temporary alimony has been waived by Evelyn L. Conrad for six weeks in a divorce suit she filed against John M. Conrad. Each of the husbands is required to pay $100 for his wife's expenses.

Benjamin Franklin said
"Never do tomorrow what you can do today . . ."

Many a man, to his sorrow, has put off insuring his property fully until a sudden loss made it too late. Don't put yourself in this position. Remember that price rises have inflated property values. Insure fully — now!

Treasure-Hunter Loses 3rd Wife

CHICAGO, July 3—Hunting a $100 million buried pirate treasure has cost Waldo Hancock Logan, 53, his third wife. Mrs. Angele Centlivr Logan charged her husband spent more time in the Caribbean islands—site of the supposed treasure—than in the family living room and Judge Joseph Sabath granted her a divorce yesterday on grounds of desertion.

Logan, a millionaire, has spent 16 years collecting data on the long-lost pirate gold. In 1940, his second wife, Actress Ruthelma Stevens, divorced him on similar grounds.

His first wife, Mary Weir, divorced him in 1928 and married Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. a few days later.

Freedom Given New Meaning In Ancient Town

BETHLEHEM, N. H., July 3 —Freedom has a new meaning today for 985 residents of Bethlehem.

The town turned back the clock for 200 years Sunday and before the two-hour Colonial-times observance was over more than half the residents had been put in stocks, pillories or ducking stools.

The two-hour observance was ordered by selectmen in conjunction with celebration of Independence Day and the Bethlehem Sesquicentennial.

Townpeople went all-out to observe the occasion. They appeared on Main street in Colonial costumes or other old garments taken from attics and trunks. Arrests and punishment in the stocks, pillories and ducking stool resulted from violations of about thirty old "blue laws," including: Running, kissing a child, shaving, playing golf, dancing, playing in music and being frivolous.

Police Chief Howard Sanborn, a busy man for two hours, was himself apprehended by the selectmen charged with working on the Sabbath, and was placed in the stocks.
